

Satellite radio is equivalent to getting the same information via cable TV. It is much more useful for those of us driving, particularly in unfamiliar territory than any local station could. If the local stations offered better fare, I'd never have moved to XM radio. Don't stifle the competition.